Dear Allen:

You were most thoughtful in dropping me a note about our missed connections when I was in Washington. When you called the club
I had just left for Walter Reed to see [redacted] [redacted] and from there I went to the airport and home.

I know how busy you are, but I shall indeed get in touch with you when I am next in town.

With all good wishes,

Dear Ray:

I am terribly sorry to have missed you when you were in Washington the other day. Apparently you had already checked out when I tried to reach you about 9:15 Wednesday morning.

Please call again next time you are in town as I still would very much enjoy another good chat with you.

Sincerely,

SIGNED

Allen W. Dulles
